2) Fill in the chart given below:

Cause	Effect
i) During the days of May and June the sea remains quiet.
ii)	The contentious roaring sound of the sea is almost not heard.

3) Answer the following questions: (within 15 words)

- i) The sea keeps on rolling on the beach all day.
- ii) The giant sea dog moans for bones.
- iii) The sea looks like a giant hungry dog with its grey physical features.
- iv) Greasy paws are referred to the slippery huge paws of the giant sea dog.
- v) The sea lies on the sandy shores.
- vi) In May or June the sea remains quiet and the grasses on the dune do not play their reedy tune.

4) Answer the following questions: (within 25 words)

- i) James Reeves presents the sea both as playful and calm just like a dog who after having a playful day sleeps peacefully when it tires. The sea similarly roars continuously but becomes calm in May or June. So the sea is compared to a hungry giant dog.
- ii) The weather remains calm and non-turbulent during the months of May and June. As a consequence the sea also remains quiet.
- iii) The wind roars when it is night. At that time the sea also becomes violent and the waves clash against the cliffs making howling sound.
